

November 2010

Dear Friends, Supporters, and generous Contributors,

The past few months have brought some difficult times for Angie. In July she lost a long time friend to cancer. He had taken in many rescues for Angie and so she had to find homes for 11 dogs that would no longer have a care giver. Angie found homes for all except Reese who is now living with Angie. Reese is a sweet 8 year old Lab mix who prefers being an indoor pooch and is house trained. Unfortunately he gets very jealous of other dogs. If you know of someone who only wants one sweet companion, Angie would still like to place him in a good home.

Katie

Katie was one of the dogs who were successfully placed. She is living with a wonderful family in the country in Ennis. She has a lab puppy for a playmate.

Angie lost one of her personal dogs, Tigger, in July. She had raised Tigger from a puppy. He had severe hip problems as the result of being abused prior to coming to live with Angie. This caused him to kind of hop rather than walk. He did not let his disability get him down and had a good life with Angie. Some of you may recognize Tigger as one of the dogs in the picture with Angie that was used when she received the Kindness Award from Operation Kindness.

Some of the recent adoptions that have occurred include Copper, Bailey, Samson, Sonia, Maya, and Duchess. Nicholas, a Border collie mix was adopted last month and lives on a 150 acre farm. He took to his new parents quickly and will have lots of room to run and play. Sassy, a boxer mix, was also adopted the end of October by a lady who has 5 children. Sassy seems quite happy with all of the attention she is getting.

MORE STORIES WITH HAPPY ENDINGS:

One day while on her rounds to feed in west Dallas, Angie came upon a black Scottish terrier who was extremely matted. The little guy came to her without hesitation and she took him to her vet to be looked over. As it turns out, the dog was micro chipped. Angie called the phone number she was given and talked to the owner in Oklahoma City. The dog had been missing for 3 years! The man drove immediately to Dallas to get the dog who is a special friend to the man's daughter. If only the little terrier could talk to us and relate his incredible story.

Ya'll probably think that Angie only rescues dogs. Well, one day she realized that there was a chicken living in some bushes on a vacant lot across from one of the dogs she tends to. She started feeding the chicken and named her Lucy. Angie contacted a friend who has an animal sanctuary and agreed to take Lucy if Angie could catch her. After a few unsuccessful tries, Lucy was captured in September and taken to her new home.

I talk to Angie at least once a week and she always has another story about some poor dog she has seen roaming the streets. She cannot take them all in. She did rescue Lucas who was dumped by his owner and chased the fleeing truck of the owner for many blocks. She found a Greyhound with a belt for a collar wandering one day and was able to place him with a Greyhound rescue group. I can't say enough thanks to all of the people who help Angie in her mission to save and care for so many babies. Please have a blessed holiday season and remember Angie's Friends in your gifts if at all possible. Thank you!
